

McGlinchey's Tarush Anand Elected to National Retail & Restaurant Defense Association's Board

March 14, 2022

McGlinchey is pleased to announce that Tarush Anand—a litigation Member (partner) in the firm's Houston office—has been elected to the board of directors of the National Retail & Restaurant Defense Association \(NRRDA\).

NRRDA is an industry-centered organization focused on advancing and protecting the legal interests of the retail and restaurant industry. By providing its members with cutting-edge information, strategies, and tools, the organization works to reduce claims and manage risk, mount effective defense strategies against claims and litigation, and foster a cooperative relationship among its members.

Tarush has represented clients from a wide range of industries, some of which include construction, energy, health and fitness, hospitality, insurance, manufacturing, retail, and transportation. He has first-hand experience in every facet of the litigation process in state and federal courts, from obtaining emergency temporary restraining orders and injunctions all the way through trials and appeals.

Related people

Tarush Anand